

FIREMAN NEARLY LOSES HIS LIFE

Lieut. Harry B. Robbins Hurdled
From Hose Wagon in a Collision.

RUN DOWN BY STREET CAR IN GOING TO A BLAZE

Robbins' Injury Is of Such a Character That It May Prove Fatal.

Hose wagon No. 2, as it was on the way to a small fire at Walker Brothers' dry goods store, at 1440 S. 10th street, Saturday morning, was struck by street car No. 313 of the depot line, speeding westward, at Second South and Second West streets, and Lieutenant Harry B. Robbins was hurled to the street and possibly fatally injured.

Robbins' skull was fractured and his right hand crushed. Unconscious, he was picked up and taken to St. Mark's hospital in an ambulance, and placed upon the operating table. Dr. M. R. Stewart and Dr. S. G. Paul attended Robbins' injuries and operated upon him, removing bits of broken and crushed bone from the fractures in his skull.

To reach the fire the hose wagon from station No. 2, located on Second West street between South and North Temple streets, took down Second West street, intending to turn east onto Third South street at the intersection of that thoroughfare with Second West street. Within 150 feet of Second South street the driver of the hose wagon, Samuel D. Walker, saw the street car nearing the crossing at a terrific rate of speed, he says, but supposed the motorman would stop to allow the hose wagon to cross in front of him. Instead, Walker and others who witnessed the collision say, the car kept on at its high speed and Walker, seeing it must strike the hose wagon, attempted to turn westward on Second South street and run parallel with the car to avoid a collision.

Car Strikes Wagon.
The onward momentum of the hose wagon slid it towards the car line as Walker attempted to make the turn and the car struck the front end of the wagon, hurling both Robbins, who occupied a seat with the driver, and Walker from their places. Robbins fell upon the double track and Walker on top of him. The team, of which the driver had lost control, started to run away, but Walker scrambled back to his seat and grabbed the lines. Robbins, however, was hurled from the double track to the street. His skull was fractured in two places from the fall and the wagon wheels passed over his right hand, crushing it.

Going at breakneck speed, parallel with the street car, Walker was unable to gain control of his horses until Third West street was reached, and was not able to stop them until he reached Fifth West.

Walker's back was severely wrenched in his fall, and it is likely that he will be off duty for several days from the injury. The dashboard of the hose wagon was smashed and the end of the tongue broken off.

Several panels in the side of the street car were broken and it was incapacitated for duty. It was in charge of J. Draper, conductor, and W. D. Harkness, motorman.

Walker and Frank Murray, fireman and former policeman, who was on the hose wagon, say that the street car was going at the rate of from thirty to forty miles an hour and failed to sound its gong as it approached the crossing.

Reports at Variance.
The street car company's report of the collision is entirely at variance with the statements of Murray and Walker. The motorman says that when he saw the hose wagon nearing the crossing he stopped, but that when the driver attempted to turn east into Second South street the hose wagon crossed the street, causing it to slide into the side of the street car, throwing Walker and Lieutenant Robbins from their seats, but Walker and Murray's stories are in direct contradiction to the motorman. Walker did not attempt to turn east onto Second South street, they say.

Robbins is thirty-nine years old, married, and the father of four children. His home is at 318 West North Temple street. He has been a member of the fire department for seven years and lieutenant for two years.

The fire at Walker Brothers was in a toilet room on the second floor. Burning paper, ignited supposedly from a lighted cigar stub, set fire to a window sill, causing the alarm. The blaze was easily extinguished with practically no loss.

TEX VOTING MACHINES ORDERED BY COUNTY

The board of county commissioners met Saturday morning and adopted a resolution authorizing the purchase of ten additional voting machines. Four of the machines will be used in the city and the remaining six will be placed in the most densely populated districts of the county. Eight additional machines are needed in the city, as a result of the redistricting and increase of the number of voting districts, but four will be purchased by the city to make up the needed eight.

HORRIBLY BURNED BY EXPLOSION OF SULPHIDE

NEW YORK, Feb. 29.—Six employees of the National Sulphur company's mill in Brooklyn were terribly burned and injured by an explosion of sulphide in the company plant today.

A driver of a passing truck was struck and his skull was fractured by a section of the roof, which was blown off the building. The factory was destroyed by fire with a loss of about $100,000.

Majestic's New Manager.
There has been a change in the management of the Majestic theater, John W. Bowley taking charge on Saturday. Mr. Bowley is an old time theatrical man. He has been connected with the Orpheum theater for some time past and for fourteen years was stage manager of the Grand opera house in Indianapolis, Ind. Under his management the Majestic will be one of the best of the moving picture theaters in the city. Mrs. Bowley will continue in charge of the box office.

SANITARIUM IS TO BE ENLARGED

Deal Consummated Which Involved a Consideration of $20,000.

GIDEON SNYDER SELLS INTEREST IN PROPERTY

Many Improvements, It Is Said,
Will Be Made by New Management.

A deal which involved the exchange of $20,000 was completed Saturday afternoon with the signing of a lease between the Salt Lake Hot Springs Sanitarium company, represented by Gideon Snyder, B. M. Stephenson and J. P. Emery, whereby the complete management of the Sanitarium will be taken over by Mr. Stephenson and Mr. Emery. Mr. Stephenson has been manager of the Sanitarium for a number of years and will continue to have an active part in the conduct of the institution. It is intended to enlarge the present facilities considerably and to add a number of attractive features which will conduce to the comfort of the patrons.

At the present time the Sanitarium contains two large swimming pools, one 55x65 feet, the other 65x75 feet in size; thirty-seven private baths, twelve plunge baths and two Turkish baths for ladies and gentlemen. The new arrangements will include an extensive enlargement of the Turkish bath facilities, which will be made as good as any in the country. The other baths and the swimming pools also will be rearranged and enlarged.

Mr. Stephenson said Saturday night that he could not yet tell just what these improvements would be, as the lease has just been signed. It was intended, however, to bring the arrangements of the Sanitarium thoroughly up-to-date in every way and to maintain the high standard which has been the feature of the place in the past. The changes will all be made without interfering with the present conduct of the institution in any way, so that patrons will not be aware of the changes as being made until they are completed. The Turkish bath arrangements will first be remodelled and improved and the work will start as soon as plans are prepared, which will be in a few days.

GOVERNOR AND PARTY AGAIN VISIT GREEKS

He Is Accompanied by Judge
Gowans and Two Other Men.

Governor John C. Cutler, Judge E. G. Gowans and Probation Officer Guardel, Le Brown of the Juvenile court, and Le Roy Armstrong, editor of the Inter-Mountain Republican, paid a visit to Greektown Saturday night.

This is the second visit Governor Cutler has made to that district. The first was made three or four days ago, and Governor Cutler, following it, scathingly denounced the inhabitants. His report was pronounced unjust, and it is understood that, after the second inspection, which was thorough, every Greek place being visited, he was not wrong in his denunciation of the district.

EDDIE OLSEN RELEASED FROM COUNTY JAIL

Eddie Olsen, caught in the police dragnet that embraced Richard Deming, now serving ten years in the Utah State prison for burglary, Mike Lynch and Joe Donovan, professional crooks, finished serving a two months' term for larceny in the county jail Saturday and was released, Judge Armstrong having dismissed the case against him for alleged burglary.

Olsen's release cleans out the "old guard" of dangerous crooks that was held at the county jail, either serving terms or awaiting trial, for months, among whom were Deming and Joe Sullivan, two of the most desperate and dangerous crooks ever encountered by the local authorities.

Olsen probably escaped a prison term on the charge of burglarizing the Angelo rooming house by Deming's generosity in assuming the blame by testifying that the articles found on Olsen he had given to Olsen himself.

LICHTER DENIES THAT HE PAID COURT TO WOMAN

Anton Lichter, an employee of the Salt Lake Brewing company, makes emphatic denial of the statement that he has rooming house by Deming's generosity in assuming the blame by testifying that the articles found on Olsen he had given to Olsen himself.

Say Geiger Is Coming Back.
Reports were received here Saturday to the effect that George Geiger, formerly superintendent of the Rio Grande Western here and at present general superintendent of the El Paso division of the Rock Island, is to leave that position in the near future and return to Salt Lake.

A local rumor that he was to succeed J. M. Davis as general superintendent of the Oregon Short Line here was given some slight circulation in connection with the report. All the local officials of the Oregon Short Line declared the rumor absurd. The report that Mr. Geiger is coming back can not be confirmed.

CAUCUS IS HELD AT KENYON HOTEL

American Members of the City Council Discuss the Raleigh Case.

MEMBERS ARE SOMEWHAT DIVIDED IN SENTIMENT

However, It Is Believed That the Street Supervisor Will Be Exonerated.

The members of the city council held a caucus at the Kenyon hotel, Saturday afternoon, and spent the major portion of the time in a discussion of the Raleigh case. This is the second caucus held upon the matter and the members are no nearer together than they were at the time of the former caucus, when Black, Raybould and Wood announced that they would vote against the report of the committee of the whole, exonerating Raleigh, when the matter came up in the council for final disposition.

Aside from the clew of the watch chain, there is nothing new in the case. The books are still missing, and while there is a well-defined suspicion as to who took them, they have not yet been recovered.

BURGLAR MYSTERY SOLVED
BY ASTUTE POLICEMEN
Policemen Deany Sullivan, H. D. Lyon, Tom Gillespie and Howell played Sherlock Holmes on a burglar alarm coming in from a furnished but unoccupied house at 475 Third avenue, about 7:30 o'clock Saturday night, and finally solved the mystery to their satisfaction, if not to that of others.

TREES DAMAGE HOUSE: VERDICT FOR $250

In the $1000 damage suit of Thomas Morris against Salt Lake City, the jury in Judge Ritchie's division of the Third District court has returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $250. On the night of October 3, 1907, a record breaking wind blew some trees upon Morris's house and damaged the structure. Morris alleged that the roots of the trees had been cut too closely, in the laying of a sidewalk, and held the city responsible for the damage inflicted.

The shooting of Mat Zoraf, alleged coal thief, in the north yards of the Rio Grande Western railroad at Bingham Junction by Special Night Agent, Maec Cochran, Friday evening, has developed the fact that the railway company is losing an immense quantity of fuel through the depredations of coal thieves, principally foreigners.

One life has been lost in the depredations, and it is determined to stop the thefts.

Several foreigners caught helping themselves without leave recently have been fined at the rate of $2 a sack and Friday Justice Joseph J. Williams fined two Greeks, James Franges and Emos Samuris, $10 each. In default of payment they were committed to the county jail.

One life has been lost from stealing coal and two or three other persons have been seriously injured, and the company is determined to break up the thefts.

PART OF WATCH CHAIN MAY PROVE A CLUE

Found Near Supervisor Raleigh's Office After Receipt Books Were Stolen.

FOUND.—Part of watch chain, just outside the north window of the general office of Street Supervisor Raleigh, in the City and County building. Found on the floor after the theft of eight police receipt books. Will the owner of the chain please call at the police department, prove property and take it?

The discovery of a portion of a watch chain, found the morning after the theft of eight police receipt books from the office of Street Supervisor Raleigh, may yet lead to the apprehension of the man who stole the books.

The piece of chain was found just outside of the north window of Mr. Raleigh's general office, and turned over to Police Sergeant Janney, who now has it in his possession. Several people who have seen the piece of chain say that it is the exact counterpart of a chain worn by a man who is close to those who have been pursuing Mr. Raleigh and it is possible that it may lead to the apprehension of the man who took the books.

BURGLAR MYSTERY SOLVED BY ASTUTE POLICEMEN

Neighbors saw a light burning in the attic of the unoccupied house, and, knowing that it was furnished and contained valuable property, thought burglars might be ransacking it consequently they sent in a burglar alarm.

The policemen had to break into the vacant house to gain entrance, and found no trace of burglars. They examined the lighted globe, which was loose, and found that it was turned on from the shaking of the house by a passing street car.

El Kalah Temple sends two large caravans each year from the Oasis of Salt Lake to Mecca, there being usually some thirty or more desert caravans on their first trip across the wearisome sands. There will be the usual number with the bunch that starts March 18, and all El Kalah envies them the innumerable pleasure they will feel when they realize that Mecca really at last has been gained. With the Zem Zemer water flowing within easy reach, reposing beneath the shade of the chewing gum tree, and with sweet music pouring forth between bites of the fodder on the sacred carpet, there will be no regret left in the hearts of those who have risked the dangers of the desert that they might do homage to Allah.

The usual regalia, including the 1908 card, are among the many things Nobles are reminded to bring along.

ROBS BENEFACTOR AND GETS DRUNK

Harry Harding's Ill-Gotten Gains, However, Do Him
Little Good.

ENTERS EMPLOYER'S HOUSE AND STEALS VALUABLES

When Arrested Harding Confesses That He Took the Money.

Harry Harding, 30 years old, a ranch hand, repaid Ira Bennion of Taylorsville, who took him in and gave him a place to stay while he was out of work, by stealing into his house in the dead of the night and burglarizing it. While Bennion and his family were sleeping Friday night, Harding stole in and took from Bennion's trousers $15 in money, a .38 caliber Colt's automatic revolver, valued at $20, a rifle worth $30 and two gold rings. The rifle Harding hid behind the barn intending to go back for it, but got drunk and was captured at Murray.

Harding stopped at the first saloon he came to on his way into Murray, and began lushing up, breaking the ten-dollar gold piece that he stole from his employer's pockets to buy liquor. At Mrs. J. Richmond's shop he pawned the revolver for $5, and at another shop one of the rings. An hour or so later, Marshal Mike Maus captured Harding in the Phoenix saloon, intoxicated. Harding confessed and was incarcerated in the county jail on a burglary charge Saturday night.

Bennion, who became acquainted with the self-confessed burglar in Wyoming several months ago, met Harding on the streets here two weeks ago and learned from him that he was out of work. He offered to give Harding a place to stay until he could find work in return for his caring for the stock and doing other chores about the place, and Harding accepted, sleeping in the stable in a room arranged for him.

WAGE CUT IN EFFECT AFTER MARCH 14

Official Confirmation of the Action Taken at Denver Received Here.

EMPLOYEES BELIEVE THERE WILL BE A STRIKE

About 350 Men Affected by Abrogation of Agreement.

Official confirmation has been received here of the notices posted at the local shops of the Denver & Rio Grande two weeks ago, that the company on March 14 will abrogate its agreement with the machinists, car repairers, boilermakers and blacksmiths' unions.

A committee from these unions held a conference in Denver Friday with General Manager Ridgeway of the Denver & Rio Grande, and after its conclusion the announcement was made that the company would follow out the original notices. This means that after March 14 the members of the unions named above, about 350 in number, along the Denver & Rio Grande will work for less wages than they are now getting. What the cut will be no one can say.

It is the general belief among the men who will be affected here, about 150 in number, that the attempt of the company to carry out its plan will precipitate a general strike of the car repairers, boilermakers, blacksmiths and machinists on all the Gould lines.

The strike proposition is to be submitted to the employees of these roads by referendum vote at once. The machinists are particularly bitter against the proposed reduction in wages and declare the abrogation of the agreement to be a new working agreement is made by which they will not suffer. The reports from Denver Saturday stated that the International & Great Northern trade union of the Gould system in Texas, will not be affected in case of a strike, as the road is in a receiver's hands at present.

Railroad officials say it is very doubtful as to whether or not the effort of the Denver & Rio Grande to abrogate its agreement with the unions named above will result in a general strike along the system, but admit that it will probably bring on several strikes at different places along the line.

Great Activity in Local Real Estate
Properties Change Hands and There Are Reports of Many New Buildings.

Among the sales reported Saturday were a number of lots on which the purchasers intend to erect new buildings during the next few months. It is expected that this will be a feature of the spring trade and that the number of sales of this sort will be larger even than during the fall and winter, although there has been a good demand up to this time.

Lot sales at the corner of Third South and L streets, on H street near Sixth avenue and at 627 South Third East amounting to near $4000 were reported by Stowe & Palmer. The sale of small houses and lots at 1764 South Fifth East, at 147 Dunbar avenues, at 35 South Twelfth East and at 874 East Seventh South, the total consideration amounting to near $11,000, were also reported by the same dealers. They also reported the sale of two small farms of three and four acres each, with buildings hereon aggregating in value about $4500.

Eber G. Blackburn purchased three handsome, modern brick double houses on Sixth West between North and South Temple, of Angus McKellar, Jr., for $7250.

Reports of intentions to build new apartment houses continue to come in. Among those received Saturday were the following: J. A. Ellis purchased the Glasgow corner Third East and Brigham streets, 80x115 feet in size, of De Witt B. Lowe, and will improve the property in the near future with a handsome apartment house. P. Gibbons will erect a set of three-story flats at 251 Third South, to east in the neighborhood of $25,000. It is also reported that Mrs. Wellington Lake will erect a handsome two-story brick house on Brigham street which will cost $10,000.

TRUST COMPANY HOLDS ITS ANNUAL MEETING

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Utah Savings and Trust company Saturday afternoon, officers for the ensuing year were elected and the regular semi-annual dividend, amounting to $7500, being 3 per cent on the capital stock of $250,000, was declared. The officers elected were as follows: President, W. S. McCormick; vice-president, John J. Daley; manager, Heber Wells, assistant manager, Thomas W. Sloan. The board of directors elected at the first of the year are as follows: W. Mont Ferry, E. O. Howard, E. A. Wall, W. J. Halloran and Fred C. Jensen.

Horsehoes Not Lucky.
Horsehoes are not lucky for John Flohn, 57 years old, laborer.

For the alleged theft of four old horsehoes, rusty and full of nail holes, like those found in song, and a pair of pinners, from Myers' second-hand store on State street, between Third and Fourth South streets, Flohn is occupying a cell at the city jail on a charge of petit larceny. He was arrested by Policeman Gillespie Saturday afternoon. When arrested he was in possession of the horsehoes, but the pinners have not been located.
